

Hogwarts Memorial Hall?

Many hirers choose to decorate the Memorial Hall to reflect the theme of their party but none have achieved so complete a transformation as that to celebrate Harry Potter fan Nicole's 16th birthday.

Nicole had no suspicion of what was in store until arriving at the hall entrance to find a bricked wall, which parted to allow entry to platform 9¾.

A very quick train journey took her to the banqueting hall in Hogwart's, complete with floating candles.

The effect was heightened by the amazing array of Potterabilia, including the Sorting Hat (complete with voice), Harry Potter's Nimbus 2000 broomstick and a corner of Snape's Potions laboratory.

(If you're looking to run a Harry Potter themed party and want some advice or to hire some of the effects from Nicole's parents please contact Hogwarts@shiplakehall.com.)